Dear Parents,

As we approach the end of our first half term of the academic year, I would like to draw your attention to information on how to access online learning.

A reminder that on the first page of your child's orange homework book, your child has glued a list of their individual logins details for the following websites:

- Google account (including Google Classroom)
- TT Rockstars
- Education City
- Spelling Tutor
- Typing Club

At the moment, the only website from this list which we are asking children to use regularly is TT Rockstars (a copy of the letter from early October about our current homework expectations is also in your child's orange homework book). The other websites are available if children would like an extra activity to do at home.

Should it be necessary at some point in the future, for the whole class to self-isolate if someone in the class tests positive for covid-19, we will be providing remote learning as in the national lockdown. This would include work set on Google Classroom.

The children have logged onto Google Classroom and Education City in lesson time this term, and we were really pleased with how much they remembered from when they used these websites during the lockdown. Please check over the half term break that you are still able to log onto both these websites at home and then let us know after the half term break if you have any problems.

We have attached a detailed set of instructions on Google Classroom, in case we need to use it at any point for online learning.

We wish you a safe and restful week and look forward to seeing you after half term.

Kind regards,

Anne Quigley and Mark Wolstenholme
