Dear Parents

I'm writing to let you know about the online learning plans for Thames class next week. Thursday 4th March will be World Book Day and we are planning a day of activities, which we hope the children will enjoy. The children's work will be based around the book Night of the Gargoyles by Eve Bunting and David Wiesner.

One of the World Book Day activities will be for the children create a gargoyle sculpture out of clay. From Monday 1st March we will put a box outside the school with a ball of clay for each child, so that the children can create their own gargoyle at home. Please could you arrange to collect your child's clay before World Book Day? If the weather is wet, the clay will be just indoors by the school office so Jackie Crook will be happy to give it out!

We ask that the children bring their sculptures into school when they return on Monday 8th – thank you.

We are not asking the class to dress up for World Book Day this year (although if children have a costume that they would like wear, they are very welcome to!)

Instead we would like children to choose one of the following to share:

-Either bring to the Class Meet an object or piece of clothing that represents a book that they enjoy. For example, they might bring a bar of chocolate for Charlie and the Chocolate Factory or wear a white apron for Hetty Feather. We will then ask the rest of the class to guess which book is being represented.

- Or post an "emoji book" on the Class Stream. Others in the class can then comment what they think the book is. For example, this is The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe:

We are looking forward to seeing what the children come up with!

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you for the huge amount of support you have given to your children during this time of home learning. We really appreciate everything that you do.
